“ You and I have had to give up our brothers too early in life, but their souls are at peace. We're only apart from them temporarily, and when that trumpet sounds, they get a head start. So for the time being, keep alive his memories, whether on page, or reliving them aloud. You and yours will be remembered in prayer. Blessings.

“ I enjoyed sharing time with Dean at sunday school and saturday morning bible study. He was honest and real in his questions and comments and I found that to be a real encouragement. I was able to spend a half hour with Dean at the hospital Tuesday evening and that will be something I will cherish.
