“ Jim, I will miss you so much. All our talks about engines and the foundry work you did with them. In the short time I knew you, you became a good friend. Hope to see you in the next life and we can continue our friendship there. Gail

“ Jim was one of the few finest men to ever enter into my life, full of life. That turned my normal rhythmic black and white routine into a colorful experience every time we met. We soon became fast friends enjoying everything there was around us at any given moment. He had the rare power and sense of humor to make people around him come alive and to realize their own attributes and give them a fresh out look on life. Being a man of many talents, he had a serious machine shop where he designed and built working model race cars, boats and engines of many configurations, he was nobodys fool. He often went to National and International meets where he ranked high among the competitors and was a respected and well liked person in his field. Yes, Jim was my best friend and I loved to brag about him and call him a genius, I will always love him for the man he was. Good-bye Jim good Luck and God Bless, until I have the priveledge of seeing you again on the Other Side. Capt. Ken
